

Transfer photos from your iPhone to your PC using Windows Explorer

If you want to transfer your photos to a Windows PC and don't want to fuss with the autoplay method you can always upload them using Windows Explorer. This is a nice, easy guide on how to accomplish this in minimal time.

Step 1

First things first, connect your iPhone or other Apple device to your computer using the correct USB Cables.

Step 3

The previous step should have opened a window that lists your devices with removable storage. If your device is connected well you will see the icon for your device listed under removable storage. Double click your device icon to open up the directory that is full of your folders and subfolders.

Step 7

Finally you will just import your screenshots and photos to your desktop by either holding the CTRL button and selecting the photos of your choice or to import them all at once you will just click CTRL+A to highlight them all and then simply drag the selected photos over to your desktop. Hint: You can also choose to simply hit the CTRL+C button to copy your photos then open the folder you want them in and hit CTRL+V and they will copy over.
